Dear Sir:

I was very glad that you wrote me concerning the non-arrival of the cheque for 1250 francs. Although I wrote you on December 31st that I had directed the bank to send this to you, on investigation I found that nothing had been done about it. I have ordered the bank to send you a draft, which you should receive on the steamer following this letter. Please pardon this blunder on our part, and believe me

Very truly yours,

Dear Sir:

The decorations from the Andre Salles sale have just arrived. They were so poorly packed that two were badly broken, and all but one were bent. The enamel on all of them being badly chipped in many places. I am holding your bill and taking the matter up with our treasurer to see if it is possible to have them repaired. He is now in Europe, so I will have to write him there.

Very truly yours

Curator.

Dear Sir:

Have you any of those engraved coins of Napoleon III, either in silver or copper, done after the Franco-Prussian War, showing the Emperor with a German helmet, yachting cap, etc.? If so, would you mind sending them to me on approval. I only wish the engraved ones, not the pieces struck from dies afterwards, nor do I care for those in copper with this type of helmet:
